

Press release: Gloucestershire school children learning to love nature with help from the Environment Agency

400 students are learning about what lives in the river and how they can help keep our rivers clean