

Press release: Government takes action to cut pollution from household burning

Sales of house coal and wet wood in England will be phased out from next year to cut pollution