

Press release: Government takes major step in improving biosecurity and preventing diseases

Introduction of new border controls will help guard against incoming diseases and pests while minimising burdens and costs for traders and consumers.