

Press release: Green light for dashboards in 2019 puts pension savers in the driving seat

Pensions dashboards which will revolutionise retirement planning have been given the green light by the Work and Pensions Secretary today – with initial industry models expected this year.