

Press release: Low Pay Commission publishes research on the effects of the minimum wage on employment and automation

Every year the Low Pay Commission commissions research projects to help evaluate the effects of the minimum wage rates we have recommended. Published today are two final reports and two interim reports.