

Press release: New crew and UK experiment head to the International Space Station

Two rockets are poised to launch one day after another to replenish the International Space Station with a new crew and cargo carrying UK science.