

Press release: New measures on night time deliveries to supermarkets to support coronavirus response

The government has extended delivery hours for supermarkets and other food retailers to support the industry response to the coronavirus