

Press release: New research will examine effect of gender norms on men and boys

Today on International Men's Day, the Government Equalities Office will commission new research which will look at stereotypical expectations of men and boys.