

Press release: No escape for company bosses responsible for nuisance calls

From today, company directors whose firms plague people with unsolicited nuisance calls will be personally liable if their company breaks the law.