

Press release: PHE launches 'Cervical Screening Saves Lives' campaign

The campaign urges women to attend their cervical screening, with data showing that the number of women attending screening has fallen to a 20-year low.