

Press release: Residents and landlords to team up to better communicate building safety issues

Social housing residents are to team up with their landlords to trial innovative methods of communicating building safety matters to residents as part of a new government-appointed group.