

Press release: Sales of antibiotics for animals at lowest level to date

Report shows total quantity of antibiotics sold for livestock remains at the lowest level to date. Upticks in antibiotic use in some sectors highlight need for continued collective action. Multi-drug resistance in pigs and poultry has reduced to an all-time low after a decade of reducing antibiotic use.