

Press release: The new space age: more than £900,000 for education and range control to support Launch UK

Close to £1 million of government funding will be used to inspire the next generation of engineers and support future commercial range control services for UK spaceflight.