

Press release: Thousands of new school places in underperforming areas

22 new free schools approved to open, aiming to help raise standards and give parents more choice