

Press release: Timpson says a locally-driven approach needed to rejuvenate high streets

Retail industry experts have called for a community-focused approach to tackling the challenges facing high streets and town centres.