

Press release: UK wine exports pouring into overseas markets

English wine exports could reach £350 million by 2040, and the Department for International Trade is helping UK wine producers enter key international markets.