

Press release: Women's Business Council celebrates five years of world-leading collaboration between business and government

The 'Five years on' report finds more women in work, remaining in work and progressing to senior positions, than in 2013.