Special Representative for Iran Brian Hook is traveling on October 10-17 to India and Europe to further discuss U.S. foreign policy toward Iran. In India, he and Assistant Secretary of State for Energy Resources Francis R. Fannon will meet with Indian government counterparts for consultations; in Luxembourg, he will attend meetings with officials gathered for the European Union meeting of Ministers; in France, he and Bureau of Energy Resources officials will meet with the Executive Director of the International Energy Agency; and in Belgium, he will meet with EU counterparts to discuss the Iranian regime's continued missile proliferation.

During this trip, Special Representative Hook will engage our allies and partners on our shared need to counter the entirety of the Iranian regime's destructive behavior in the Middle East, and in their own neighborhoods. Special Representative Hook will take part in various press engagements.
