

Prime Minister calls for global responsibility to take AI risks seriously and seize its opportunities

UK Government officially publishes report on capabilities and risks from frontier AI for the first time, drawing on sources including intelligence assessments.