

Prime Minister to drive UK growth on European visits as he launches major German partnership

The Prime Minister will drive forward UK economic growth in Berlin and Paris this week, as he puts delivering for the British people at the top of his international agenda.