

Prime Minister to host European leaders at first major UK-led summit of his premiership

More than 45 European leaders will converge on Oxfordshire next week to discuss some of the most pressing generational issues facing Europe.