

Public libraries in the words of people who use, work in and run them

Dr Sarah Pyke reflects on Living Libraries, an oral history project that collected interviews on the institution of the public library in the UK.