

Putin's vanity project to realise his imperial ambitions has come at enormous strategic cost to the Russian people.

Two years on, the international community's steadfast support of the principles of democracy and freedom, and the enormous bravery and resilience of the Ukrainian people, remains steadfast.