

Quin opens first defence science and technology hub in the North East

New Dstl site in Newcastle will specialise in artificial intelligence and data science and work with regional partners