

Record number of offenders facing sober Christmas and New Year

A record number of offenders with alcohol problems will be forced to stay dry this festive season in a bid to cut booze-fuelled crime over Christmas.