

Reforms set to boost early language outcomes and cut workload

Plans published to transform early years learning and development and reduce unnecessary teacher workload