

Regulator refreshes meetings guidance for the Zoom era

The Charity Commission is calling on charities that hold online meetings to review their governing document to ensure it is up to date.