

Regulators urge safer giving to help people impacted by humanitarian crisis in the Middle East

The Charity Commission for England and Wales and the Fundraising Regulator advise people to give support via registered charities.