

Regulatory Horizons Council publishes new report on unlocking UK innovation

New report setting out how the gap can be closed between existing principles for innovation-friendly regulation, and how they are applied in practice.