

Results of major sperm whale study published

The results of a major sperm whale investigation carried out by international marine experts – including the Scottish Marine Animal Stranding Scheme (SMASS) – have been published.