

Retaining the biometrics of people arrested for serious offences

Correspondence with HM Chief Inspector Andy Cooke regarding the use of police powers to retain biometrics for those arrested for serious offences.