

Review of abstraction charges to safeguard water supplies

Environment Agency consults on changes to better protect the environment and long-term water security