

RSH publishes findings on fire safety remediation in English social housing

The report highlights the responsibility of boards and councillors to understand landlords' legal obligations in relation to managing the safety of buildings