

RSH sets new standards to drive improvements in social housing

The proposed new consumer standards are designed to protect tenants and improve the service they receive. They will apply to all social landlords.