

Rule of Law essential for economic growth, says Attorney General

The Attorney General spoke about the foundational role of the rule of law in delivering economic security at the City of London's Guildhall.