

Rural boost: Government injects nearly £350 million into farming in boost to Britain's food security

Government injects £343 million of funding into the rural economy last week, benefiting more than 31,000 farmers.