

Sara Khan appointed as independent advisor for social cohesion and resilience

Sara will work to understand and build resilience against the negative impact of extremism and better support its victims and those working to counter it.