

Say 'hello' to Citizen Science in the North

Talking watercourses are asking people in the region to provide information to help shape water quality improvement plans.