

Scheme boosts new industrialisation

The Government's enhanced New Industrialisation Funding Scheme allows enterprises to access funding of up to $45 million to install new smart production lines, with a view to having at least 130 such lines in the city by 2027.

News.gov.hk spoke to a beverage manufacturer about his firm's smart production line, which was set up under the scheme. In addition, the Commissioner for Industry (Innovation and Technology), Dr Ge Ming, outlined how the scheme promotes new industrialisation.

The story is available at www.news.gov.hk/eng/feature today (August 11) in text and video format.