

Scheme fosters sport for all

There can be no doubt that there are many benefits to playing sports.

To enable primary and secondary special school students to participate in diverse sports, the Leisure and Cultural Services Department launched the first phase of activities under the new School Sports Programme – Special Schools in November 2018.

News.gov.hk spoke to a teacher, a sports coach and two students who took part in the programme about their experiences and how the tailor-made activities help improve the students' self-confidence and social interaction.

The story appears on news.gov.hk today (March 31) in both text and video format.
