

Science Minister outlines open-arms approach to international science at G7 Ministerial with several new agreements

Science Minister declares UK science and technology “open for business” as he was meets counterparts at the G7 Science and Technology Ministerial in Italy.