

Four Malawians off to the UK for Chevening Media Freedom Fellowship

Mid to senior level professionals in their fields who will to explore issues of public trust and media freedom at the University of Westminster.

UK invites Guatemala to join a new global security approach

British Ambassador Nick Whittingham invited Guatemala to embrace a reboot in the free world's approach to tackling global aggressors in the wake of the Ukraine crisis.

New law in place to strengthen UK professions

A new approach to recognising professional qualifications gained overseas has now received Royal Assent.

Increased sentence for Bedford child abuser

Claire Buttice's sentence has been increased to 16 years' imprisonment following a hearing at the Court of Appeal.

Skills Bill becomes law

Skills and Post-16 Education Act to level up and drive economic growth across the whole country