

Secretary of State visits United States ahead of annual St Patrick's Day celebrations

While there, the Secretary of State will conduct routine meetings with a number of US figures, and update them on the current political situation.