

Security boss and employee convicted for licensing breaches

Two men working in security on Merseyside who breached Security Industry Authority (SIA) regulations have been handed community orders.