

Senegal's delayed presidential elections: UK statement

The UK government has made a further statement following the announcement of Senegal's delayed presidential elections.