

SHA expresses gratitude to CEO of West Kowloon Cultural District Authority for his contributions to the project

The Secretary for Home Affairs, Mr Caspar Tsui, today (September 29) expressed his gratitude to the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the West Kowloon Cultural District Authority (WKCD), Mr Duncan Pescod, for his contributions to the development of the West Kowloon Cultural District (WKCD) project.

"We have learnt that Mr Pescod, by mutual consent with the Board of WKCD, will leave the post of CEO of WKCD with effect from November 28. I would like to thank him for his dedication and contribution to WKCD over the past six years."

Mr Tsui added, "WKCD will commence a global search to identify a successor to the CEO. With regard to WKCD's proposal on secondment from the Government to tide over the transitional period, the Government will consider and provide the necessary support."
