

Simpler recycling collections and tougher regulation to reform waste system

Reforms to household and business bin collections and a crackdown on unscrupulous waste carriers will boost recycling rates and protect the environment