

Space sustainability conference kicks off with £1.8 million for tech innovation

£1.8 million from the UK Space Agency will boost British organisations with promising technologies to support space capabilities.