

Staffordshire farmers prosecuted following APHA investigation

Two West Midlands farmers who neglected their livestock have been successfully prosecuted following an investigation by the Animal and Plant Health Agency.