

Suspected red tide sighted at Deep Water Bay Beach and Stanley Main Beach

Attention TV/radio announcers:

Please broadcast the following as soon as possible:

Here is an item of interest to swimmers.

The Leisure and Cultural Services Department announced today (April 3) that due to the sighting of a suspected red tide, the red flags have been hoisted at Deep Water Bay Beach and Stanley Main Beach in Southern District, Hong Kong Island. Beachgoers are advised not to swim at these beaches until further notice.